'The Aspiring Mandarin Linguist'

大家好!

You have such an exciting opportunity to study Mandarin at Bournside and this booklet will take your studies beyond the classroom. Spoken by over 1 billion people, Mandarin is the most spoken language in the world and offers a different challenge to European languages. China is a major global power and speaking Mandarin can give you a massive advantage in business and trade. China also has an incredibly rich history and culture. English is not widely spoken in China, so knowing even a little Mandarin can greatly enhance your experience both travelling and working there. Learning Mandarin can also open doors to learning other Asian languages such as Korean and Japanese.

To improve your Mandarin you can:

- Immerse yourself in Mandarin through films, TV series and films.
- Participate in language competitions or cultural events
- Read graded books in Mandarin
- Complete an EPQ related to Chinese language or culture

Work experience in Mandarin allows you to use the language in authentic settings and explore Chinese culture beyond the classroom. Whether you're learning the basics online, gaining customer service experience in a local business, or travelling abroad, these opportunities show how valuable language skills can be in the real world.

Mandarin-related experiences can include:

- Language schools, such as Inlingua Cheltenham, where Bournside students often secure placements
- Cultural immersion programmes, like Mandarin House Summer Camps (costs apply)
- Online learning, including Getting Started with Chinese 3
- International opportunities, such as paid teaching placements in China after A-Levels

These experiences help build confidence, communication and cultural understanding, while supporting future study, travel and employment opportunities.
